What this means

Good progress. Gemini and Copilot now name you when people ask for a bike repair shop in Vancouver, mostly thanks to your Google and Bing profiles being fixed this month. ChatGPT still leaves you out of the general question, and Perplexity sends people to a bigger chain store. Both tend to catch up a few weeks after listings are corrected, so we'll keep a close eye on them.

What we did this month

- Fixed your hours on Bing Places and Yelp to match Google
- Removed an old duplicate listing on Foursquare
- Added three new questions and answers to your FAQ
- Checked all 12 answers below

What's next

- Finish verifying Apple Business Connect
- Set up your Nextdoor business page
- Re-check everything on November 1

How we checked: On October 1, 2026 we asked ChatGPT, Gemini, Copilot, Perplexity each question above, the way a customer in Vancouver, WA would, and copied what each one said. AI answers change from day to day and person to person, so yours may differ. We don't control what AI tools say, and nobody honestly can guarantee a spot in their answers. What we can do is keep your information accurate everywhere and show you the real results every month.
